All is well. It's just a wierd bug! (: A: Firstly, there's nothing a web developer can do about that, as this is part of the HTTP protocol. Secondly, that log looks like it has a character sequence ending in \u00c0 ; PHP will display \u00c0 when it encounters the special character Unicode code point 195, but this is not valid HTML entity, and so will not be interpreted by a web browser. Hello to all my family,The family is together togher. Geisha spending time with her brother and cousins. But when she talk about how she hates firefly during the episode. And how was at music recording studio with her grandma. So I just finished watching the episode and it is so sad what happened to the guys fighting for the fandom.. I was thinking what if geisha was in the background.. but geisha didn't have a choice in the end.. it is like a murder-suicide.. the geeky guy kills the popular girl to be happy ^^ but guess he is not happy and then think about how it is like a murder-suicide...Q: Why does a tree's root be trimmed? I was reading "A Primer on Graphs" and it says: A rooted tree is a connected graph in which one vertex has been chosen as a "root." The root of the tree is the only vertex that has exactly one incoming edge. All other vertices have at least two incoming edges, so the root is the only vertex in the tree with a single incoming edge. What is the point of stating that a vertex with exactly one incoming edge is the root? A: A tree is a connected graph that has no cycles. Since a cycle has only one vertex that has no outgoing edges (at least two have a single edge coming in), a tree clearly has no cycles, so we can remove the root. When we remove the root, we end up with a forest. It's not too hard to see that a forest cannot have cycles, but it requires a bit more than just "flipping the clockwise/counterclockwise label on each edge around a face and noticing what happens". I might dig up a picture on wikipedia. So we end up with a tree with no cycle. Moreover, we're left with exactly one vertex that has no outgoing

Org.The present invention relates to a luminous element, such as a light emitting diode (LED), and in particular, to a luminous element in which the light extraction efficiency is increased to improve the brightness of the luminous element. LEDs are well known as light emitting elements for illumination. Luminous elements using blue light emitting chips as blue light emitting elements have been used for various products, for example, for lights, etc. Various approaches have been taken to reduce the thickness of a luminous element by improving light extraction efficiency. For example, a structure that includes a buffer layer in which light extraction efficiency of the luminous element is improved is disclosed in Japanese Patent Application Laid-open No. 2004-258202 (hereinafter referred to as Patent Document 1). According to Patent Document 1, a luminous element comprises a substrate, a light emitting element formed on the substrate, and a buffer layer 0cc13bf012

A: You can give following solution. You have lot of blank lines. sed -e's/./' -e's/[|{][\s*|[]\s*//g' -e's/ [\s\S]$//g' file Here we can find only the lines which are not starting with any characters and blank characters. With following blocks [] we can remove even the character. s/[|{][\s|[]\s*//g Next we do the same for the block []. We need to remove all [, the spaces and] combination. s/[\s\S]*$//g Now we want to remove the lines that have the same pattern in the previous block. These lines are not starting with any character and blank characters. So it will be an empty line. So it's match for the above statement. sed -e's./&/' file Q: Why can't I append an element to a list in JavaScript Can someone help me? I can't append elements to my list. I'm trying to recreate an Excel feature, whereby the user can drag and drop elements onto the page. I have the drag event working perfectly but having issues with the drop event.
